STAVIS TO HAWATT

HAWATT: MICHAEL HAWATT
STAVIS: SPIRO STAVIS

HAWATT: Hey Spiro.

STAVIS: Hello mate how are you?

HAWATT: Good, are you allowed to talk to me now?

STAVIS: Yeah of course, don't be stupid, you know that. (Laughs)

HAWATT: I know.

STAVIS: One of my good mates, of course I will.

HAWATT: (Laughs). (Unintelligible).

STAVIS: Mate I was, I was – I just got back now. I was stuck at the JRPP all day while all this shit was happening and I was copping phone calls left, right and centre from everyone.

HAWATT: Yeah I just come back (unintelligible).

STAVIS: Bloody hell man, unbelievable huh?

HAWATT: It's ridiculous.

STAVIS: And, and the decision that that thing came up with though, you know to have this ex um -

HAWATT: General Manager (unintelligible).

STAVIS: Yeah.

HAWATT: I know (unintelligible) Bankstown as well.

STAVIS: Yeah.

HAWATT: I said to Jim Montague please stay on, don't um, don't go.

STAVIS: Yeah. How is he?

HAWATT: Well he's, he's angry.

STAVIS: Yeah.

HAWATT: He's angry but we want him to stay on. Very important he stays on.

STAVIS: Very, very important mate. I think the st, st staff will feel much better as well -

HAWATT: Yeah.

STAVIS: - you know, especially here.

HAWATT: Yeah.

STAVIS: You know.

HAWATT: They're gonna push him to stay on. They're gonna set up a committee -

STAVIS: Yeah, what's that?

HAWATT: The administrator's gonna set up a committee -

STAVIS: Right.

HAWATT: - a working committee -

STAVIS: Yeah.

HAWATT: - from the Council.

STAVIS: Oh okay.

HAWATT: So we're waiting on that to see what happens.

STAVIS: Oh well that's good. So tomorrow we can expect the administrator to come?

HAWATT: Yeah, yeah, yeah.

STAVIS: Alright. Alright my friend, no that's alright. And that other one that you sent through I'll, I'll chase it up tomorrow.

HAWATT: I have, have to continue pressuring you but privately huh?

STAVIS: No problem at all, you know that.

HAWATT: Okay then, alright Spiro.

STAVIS: Alright, no worries my friend.

HAWATT: Yeah.

STAVIS: I'll speak to you soon.

HAWATT: Okay.

STAVIS: Ciao mate, bye.
