

And with that first job, the Hannaford Community Centre kitchen refurb, you said you could give them a hand and throw them some work.---Well I gave them an opportunity to - - -

Sorry, I'm paraphrasing.---I, I gave them an opportunity to price.

10 I see. So you sent them an offer to tender?---Yeah, an RFQ because - - -

An RFQ.---So RFQs, you can select your three contractors you want to go out to.

And to your knowledge, had Innocon undertaken any other Inner West Council work at the time that you sent them the RFQ?---No, that would be the first, well - - -

20 That was the first one.---I think that was the first one. I think they done another one after that.

Okay. And what was your involvement? Did you provide them with any assistance with that tender?---Not from my memory. It was just, I think at the time I was just a bit wary but I just gave them an opportunity to tender.

I see. You never disclosed any confidential information to give them an advantage in the tender process?---Not from, oh, yeah, so, no, I'm not too sure.

30 Okay.---Yeah.

Thinking about Innocon in general, and the contracts they tendered for, did you provide them assistance at any stage that you can recall?---Not that I can recall, no.

Okay. And you never disclosed confidential budgetary information or competitor's quotes?---Oh, no. I don't think I would have because I kind of understand the, the, well, I guess the, the rules. It's not until I got the, the, the second phone, the SDL phone.

40 I see.---Because, do you, do you know that I mean? Like, I, I was aware and then I was, yeah, I was aware that the work phone is for work, yeah.

I see. So is it your evidence that you didn't provide any favourable treatment to Innocon in - -?---Not that I can recall, yeah. I just treated them as, it was just like everyone else. I just gave them the opportunity to price.
