manages the Institute of Management, being a 'Registered Training Organisation' (RTO).

5. The company retains a database of past and present individuals and companies who undertake training; whether it's a short course with no accreditation or a course providing a specific qualification. All students applying for one of our courses are entered into a database which records their personal details, and courses attended / qualifications attained. Any individual attending a qualification course (e.g. Diploma of Project Management) must be formally enrolled onto our system. Our policy is to retain a record of all individuals that attend accredited courses for a minimum of 30 years; as per ASQA requirements.
6. Blue Visions Management Pty Ltd was first registered as an RTO in June 2007. Prior to this date our organisation was not delivering qualification based courses. A Diploma of Project Management being considered a qualification based course was not provided prior to June 2007.

Hi Steve,

Blue Visions Management Pty Ltd was first registered as an RTO, able to offer accredited courses such as the Diploma of Project Management, in 2007. Prior to 2007 we were not delivering qualification based courses (refer below).

Thank you,

Director

Re: Document Ref: 13/1916/02/011

We refer to the Notice to Attend and Produce Documents and wish to confirm the following:
 With respect to Mr. Anthony Andjic, the only reference we found in relation to courses undertaken was a course titled "Stakeholder Management" undertaken while Mr. Andjic was employed by Taronga Park Zoo in 2008. The reference is a simple entry in our database for which we have attached the screen image below. No other documentation exists. We found no enrolment or assessment forms. This course is not an accredited course and does not require formal enrolment or assessment records.
