KENDALL ( [REDACTED] ) TO BULLOCK ( [REDACTED] )

KENDALL: WILL KENDALL
BULLOCK: DARREN BULLOCK

EXTRACT

KENDALL: Did they open those tenders that were due when you were away?

BULLOCK: Yeah, I've got 'em here on my desk.

KENDALL: Oh.

BULLOCK: What would you like to know, because they want me to go through them because - (Unintelligible) tell ya...because I told them not to issue the letters until I came back, especially if that new mob won.

KENDALL: Yeah.

BULLOCK: So your price was $13,900.

KENDALL: Yeah.

BULLOCK: Kieran was $30,500 -

KENDALL: Yeah.

BULLOCK: - and Asset Trade Services was $7800, there's no way they can do it for that, is there?

KENDALL: I don't think so, they got to attach render on the outside.

BULLOCK: Mm, so I need to go through their tender and ring 'em and go hang on you -

KENDALL: (Unintelligible) It's basically - no you can't.

BULLOCK: No.

KENDALL: I don't, I don't think it's possible, because you got to, its basically it's a big house.

BULLOCK: Yeah.

KENDALL: And it's a full repaint, the whole house.

BULLOCK: Basically inside and out.

KENDALL: It is basically in and you got the gyprock in the garage and -

BULLOCK: Yeah Yeah, so I need to go through their tender and ring them and go I think you've made a mistake in your tender, because he's only allowed in his external part of the works; he's only allowed $2,000 odd dollars to do the whole external. You can't do it for that.

KENDALL: Well, you've got half a day - you got half a you got one day of taking everything down.

BULLOCK: Mm.

KENDALL: So you've got two blokes for half a day taking all the blinds and that down.

BULLOCK: Mm.

KENDALL: And then you've got a day for two blokes putting it all back up again.

BULLOCK: Mm.

KENDALL: So there's, no, oh well if he can do it good, He can stay and home and go, I can stay at home and go broke.

BULLOCK: Yeah.

KENDALL: You don't need to go to work and go broke.

BULLOCK: Yeah, see, he's got the removal of the blinds and do that, he's only got $200. He's given me the whole break up. See move and protect furniture he's got $200. Supply and paint one coat of undercoat, what's he done there, he hasn't got, where's his painting? (Unintelligible) See, he's only got one coat. It's supposed to be two coats.

KENDALL: It's texture paint.

BULLOCK: Yeah.

KENDALL: The texture paint, straight away it'd would be 1000 bucks worth of paint. Wouldn't there?

BULLOCK: Yeah, yeah, I reckon.

KENDALL: Yeah, well, the reason I was chasing it up because I just wanted to plan that, cause I knew cause I knew that I went in reasonably cheap to get it, you know?

KENDALL: Yeah, I know, I know. Well, I'd say you'll be getting it, because I'll be ringing him and going, because I think just looking through his tender, he's left half the stuff out.

KENDALL: Yeah.

BULLOCK: And I'll be telling him that well hang on, the other tenderers came in like in the, in the twenties sort of thing and I don't see how you can physically do the work.

KENDALL: No worries.

BULLOCK: So leave it with me and I'll get back to you later today.

KENDALL: All right.

BULLOCK: Yeah, but I'd say that you will be doing it, because if they get in there, they'll cock it up and try and do it with. I mean when I spoke to that bloke out at the front, he said to me, he said, oh I've, um, I got to work out who's going to do this, because I don't even have any tradesmen in this area. So what's he going to do? Put an ad in the paper and get a couple of Chinamen in there?

KENDALL: Yeah, I don't know.

BULLOCK: And cause and cause me grief.

KENDALL: Yeah, you can tell him, that yeah, get Willbuilt to do it for you and I'll give him a bill that will cost him twice as much.

(BOTH LAUGH)

KENDALL: All right.

BULLOCK: Good idea.

KENDALL: See ya. (Unintelligible)

BULLOCK: I'll let you know.

KENDALL: No worries.
