they're got – I'm – I'm dealing with very good managers.

HAWATT: Aha, good.

STAVIS: Who get the job done. You know like the guy that got there – DAs it's a guy called Ian Woodward he's like George's equivalent.

HAWATT: Yeah.

STAVIS: Mate it – it- it's like chalk and cheese between him and George.

HAWATT: Oh really? -

STAVIS: He's –

HAWATT: - real professional.

STAVIS: - he's just fuckin really good mate, really good. Their focus has been processing times – processing times so it's easy to take that approach because you say you don't comply see you later refused. So it's not good cus – it's not customer service.

HAWATT: Yeah.

STAVIS: Whereas we've been, you know, obviously we've been you know taught differently you know the culture's been different you know we help people, try and sort it out blah – blah- blah so.

HAWATT: Is – is – is Matt aware of that? I mean if he (INAUDIBLE) –

STAVIS: Well we haven't really sat down and spoken about where he wants things to go and how he wants it, but I think he wants it more towards Bankstown rather than towards Canterbury way.

HAWATT: Yeah.

STAVIS: You know but, you know it's gonna be difficult because you know there's – people have been used to be dealing with Canterbury in a certain way you know so when they – when obviously we do press a button we got to be a bit more ruthless if – if that's what he wants you know it's gonna be a teeth – there's gonna be a – a definitely a teething process.

HAWATT: Yeah well see I think – I think there will be also change – I mean look, you know at the moment –

STAVIS: At the moment –

HAWATT: (INAUDIBLE) he's got ultimate control.

STAVIS: Yes.

HAWATT: But once the council gets back in there then –

STAVIS: Well that's the thing –

HAWATT: - then that's no good –

STAVIS: - that's the thing, yeah that's the thing.

HAWATT: - (INAUDIBLE) got back in -

STAVIS: So in the – in the interim mate I think it – you – you know if people want things done quickly it's best that they comply with everything, get an approval and you know and move on you know those sorts of things. Otherwise you know, especially if it goes beyond my delegations if you know you got to go through IHAP and all sorts of other shit you know so. Anyway the interim period as we say –

HAWATT: (INAUDIBLE) it'll get there – we'll get there.

STAVIS: Yeah.

HAWATT: (INAUDIBLE) meeting you there -

STAVIS: Sorry mate I missed your call before.

HAWATT: Yeah no, yeah I – I called you regarding – also regarding that Ja – Jabbour alright.

STAVIS: Yeah that was sent.

HAWATT: Did he – wid – he - yeah I know, he sent everything he's – he said – remember I said to him there was some marking there –

STAVIS: Yes.

HAWATT: - he said but those two units are already been approved as part of the original DA.

STAVIS: No they haven't. No they haven't. They haven't.

HAWATT: So this is what – I'm – I'm really been throwing me off.

STAVIS: Yeah, no – no I – well he knows that. They haven't mate because I – there – there was a hole in the facade and those two units plug that hole. Okay, they weren't approved before those ones.

HAWATT: Been there – the cost -

STAVIS: Yeah – yeah – yeah I know for a fact.

HAWATT: So this is – so this is the one in the façade is it?
