LU: 100%. That's it you just get a new phone (undecipherable) probably two, three years –

SIROUR: - Hold on a second, hold on a –

LU: - That's it Tommy (undecipherable). Dennis goes -

SIROUR: - Who's gonna come, who's gonna get us out at that time?

LU: Maybe.

SIROUR: SNP?

LU: Maybe, maybe, may, nah, not SNP whoever they sold all SNP or whatever. It's too long Tommy. This contract's been on, been there too long. Ten years, no, no, they can't, they cannot it will fall, for a Government contract they cannot let it run for this long –

SIROUR: Mmm.

LU: Umm, okay. Ten year's or something that's the limit. That's the limit. More than ten years or twice renew the same company, renew the contract for the same comp, company, um, yeah, ten years, ten or, or, more than ten years. So SNP's got it for more than ten years. So, yeah and if Dennis retires that's it, new company I reckon I'm telling ya –

SIROUR: - It doesn't matter.

LU: You know you, 100% got (undecipherable). That's what I'm saying. There's only, I don't know (sighs). You (undecipherable). You know that, you know how you talked about my hours, right? My hours, my, my hours I did it 2 extra days but anyway I claimed the rest but no one noticed. Anyway, George, George only claimed this library with me, okay, 'cause on the Saturday, Sunday he fixed it up. So he stayed there, he stayed, he's pretty much stayed there 24 hours. Okay, that's two, two guards. So he can, they can take turns.
